ICID

Knowledge Management Strategy

Knowledge is crucial for successful and sustainable development initiatives in the AWM domain. Knowledge management involves how it is collected, organized, communicated, shared, and improved and needs to be given due attention to achieve the mission and vision of the organization. It is equally important that all stakeholders have access to information and knowledge, both traditional and new, that is based on scientific evidence.

Knowledge Management

- ❑ From last seven decades, ICID has accumulated a substantial amount of knowledge, particularly in the field of irrigation and drainage.
- ❑ Commission uses the following platforms to disseminate:
 - Publications & Reports - ICID brought out 11 special publication since 2019; 10 transactions since 2008; and 10 reports since 2010
 - Capacity Development – two Capacity Development Training Programs, and six Webinars were organized during the year 2023-24
 - Integrated Library Management System (ILMS)
 - Irrigation Dictionary (MTD)
 - Irrigation & Drainage Products & Services Directory
 - Join IrriSEARCH
 - Tools/ Models
 - ICID Service Unit (SU) – Study Tours, Trainings, etc.

ICID Knowledge Portal

- ❖ Re-structured (in the form of an irrigation and drainage subject matter),
- ❖ Expanded (by adding new information and content or hyperlinks to it), and
- ❖ Presented as a flexible source to suit varying requirements of a diverse audience.

ICID Knowledge Objects (K-OBJ)

* Activities covered in first stage (ILMS & MTD) by integrating the database with relevant sections.

Further development could not be taken up due to budgetary limitation

Introduced Online Application Forms
